

ABA Section of International Law

Your Gateway to International Practice

Dear Section Member:

As an ABA Section of International Law member living in the Arizona area, we would like to present you with the opportunity to participate on a panel to discuss careers in international law. The "Pathways to Employment in International Law" program is a panel sponsored by the Section's Law Student, LL.M. and New Lawyer Outreach Committee. These panels are our way of fostering international law and practice, as well as membership in the Section by:

- 1) providing practical career advice to law students and newly admitted attorneys, including course selection, marketing oneself as an attorney, interview tips, and foreign language study.
- 2) providing law students and newly admitted attorneys with inspiration to pursue careers in international law.

Many students are discouraged from entering this area of practice and confuse the concepts of public and private international law, thinking the only way to practice international law is to work for an international organization. Understanding that there is no single "path" to the practice of international law is the most important take-away from these programs. Panelists are free to talk about a range of topics including interviewing for your first job, things you wish you learned in law school and how you found your substantive law niche.

The program will take place Wednesday, February 10, 2010 at 12:15 P.M. at The Arizona State University Sandra Day O'Connor School of Law!

Please respond as soon as possible if you are interested in participating on this panel. In addition, please do not hesitate to contact me if you need any additional information.

Thank you for your consideration and I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
Aaron
